

Come to FALCON!

(FACET's Adjunct Faculty and Lecturers Conference)

Downtown Indianapolis at the Crowne Plaza Indianapolis
September 30 - October 1, 2022

This year's FALCON conference theme is:

Belonging and Mattering: Meaningful Relationships for Faculty and Student Learners

Professor Felten, assistant provost for teaching and learning and executive director of the Center for Engaged Learning at Elon University, will give the Robin Hass-Birky keynote.

This is a great opportunity to learn new teaching strategies, renew your motivation, and meet colleagues from across IU and at other universities.

Indiana University South Bend Academic Affairs and UCET are supporting 12 part-time faculty and lecturers to attend FALCON 2022 is as follows:

Up to $300 reimbursement of eligible expenses for 2-day attendees (Fri. night and all-day Sat.)

Up to $200 reimbursement of eligible expenses for Saturday attendees. (Must attend full day)

Contact ucet@iusb.edu to reserve your funding.

NEW RATES! IU Faculty are eligible for a reduced registration rate of $50!

Crowne Plaza Indianapolis Hotel: $189/night + taxes.

Deadline September 5, 2022 to get the Conference rate

To learn more about the conference, check the conference website. It will be updated periodically.

NOTE: We can only reimburse expenses paid by you. If your department is paying the registration, for example, we can't reimburse you for that. Please save your receipts.

FALCON's mission is "to provide the highest quality personal and professional development opportunities to part-time and associate faculty members from institutions of higher education around the world through networking, guest speakers, and expert panel discussions."